

Angel O'Grady

Angel O'Grady is a creative entrepreneur, CEO, and self-taught digital artist inspired by nature and the Colorado Mountains. She is always creative, and dabbling in many mediums, producing a wide range of whimsical fine art pieces. Composing everything from nature to fantasy, her works are original and unique.

Her first experiences in crafting were from when she was a child living on a farm with her grandmother just outside of Warsaw, Indiana. Her grandmother would show her how to sew and they would craft. As a teen, Angel was inspired by her mother's artistic talent in painting and took instruction from her on various techniques in watercolor, acrylics, and oil paints. In her 20's she went on to create costumes and props for stage and theater in Austin, Texas for many years

Now living in the Colorado Mountains, Angel is the CEO of her own online retail business, From Up On the Mountain, selling products with her and her mother's artwork while continuing to create new works on a daily basis.