

Northwest Memories

My artistic inspiration comes from the beautiful Colorado mountains and the Pacific Northwest where I grew up. I still spend a lot of time on the Washington coast and these paintings reflect my love of the water.

I usually spend a month or so on a boat by myself when I visit and find that experience a contemplative one. The “Red Intruder” showed up in the harbor one misty morning and caught my eye and imagination. She was only there one day, but made a huge impression.

The other two paintings, “Dancing for the Sunset” and “I dreamed the Sea”, are inspired by the mesmerizing vastness of the ocean and the never ending hypnotic sound of the waves.

The paintings in this exhibit are a testimony to my Northwest connection. The contrast between my home in the mountains and the pull of the Northwest waters is exhilarating and ensures a variety of endless artistic ideas.
