“CELEBRATE WHAT’S RIGHT WITH THE WORLD!”

Dewitt Jones

My name is Vicki Payne. I am a photographer. I once saw the above quote by Dewitt Jones. It made a lot of sense to me, because it is what I like to do. I take photographs of Nature’s beauty, light, colors, and wonderful creations like the ocean, trees, flowers, and birds. We can only admire; we can never re-create anything as perfect as Nature’s original. However, humbly, I keep on trying.

I was born in the Czech Republic. In early eighties my family and I moved to United States. Now retired, I spend most of my time pursuing my passion. Currently, I divide my time between sunny Florida and mountainous Boulder, CO.

Capturing images of light has been my passion since I took my first steps into photography. I learned my photographic trade using 35mm film, chemicals, and dark room processing. I have fully converted from film to digital; however, my pictures always stay ‘true’ to my vision of the world as I see it through the eye of my lens.

Enjoy the view!
